We regret to learn that the health of the Hon. John Bell is quite feeble. During last week he was considered in a critical condition by his medical attendants, but at latest accounts was slowly recovering from his attack.

The Goodman (Miss.) Star says "Kosciusko, like the 'Eternal City,' is built upon seven hills, the brows of which are fanned by the -balmiest of breezes in the spring, and the chillest of blasts in winter time; while from their sides issue perennially the clearest, coolest specimen of the aqueous fluid that ever satiated the thirst of

Not this but Something Else.

The faith which a Radical Congress would keep with the non-represented Southern States is best shown by a re-production of their resolutions and speeches in Congress. On the 19th, in the Senate, Mr. Ross, of Kansas, offered a preamble and resolution, setting forth that,

Whereas, As certain of the rebellious States had rejected the Constitutional amendment; therefore,

Resolved, That the committee of reconstruction should be instructed to report a plan for the government of such rebellious districts, &cc.

Mr. Howard, of Michigan, in a speech on the bill to admit Nebrasks: Referring to the recent declaration of Mr. Sherman, that Congress had agreed to admit the rebel States upon their ratifying the amendment, he denied that any such agreement had been made or understood. He did not assert what conditions he would agree to as a basis of reconstruction, but simply denied that the rebel States would be admitted as fast as they should ratify the amendment. Mr. Norton interrupted Mr. Howard to ask him if he (Howard) had not stated in a speech at St. Paul, last autumn, that the constitutional amendment was to be the set-

Mr. Howard said he was grossly misrepresented by those who put any such con struction on his remarks.

Senator Johnson of Maryland replied that both the Senators from Ohio, and others, had well said that Congress had pledged itself to the admission of the Southern States upon the adoption of the constitutional amendment. Leading members of the house held the same doctrine. He presumed the Senator from Michigan, and others, would say they had voted for those amendments for the purpose of keeping them out.

Mr. Wilson said he voted for Tennessee, because she was fitted to come in, but denied that Congress had made any pledges. He said he would, to the uttermost verge of constitutional power, insist that these people should respect life, and liberty, and property; and he thought the only way to secure that was to give the ballot to all men. Mr. Doolittle asked whether Congress had not by submitting the amendment for ratification, assumed that those States had power to ratify. Mr. Fessenden said that Congress had merely provided that it should be submitted to the States, without saying what were FASSMANN'S PATENT IRON TIES!! For Cotton Bales.

UNITED STATES PATENT, APRIL, 1865. IN FASSMAN'S PATENT IRON TIES, the holes at one end and fifteen at the other. The band has only to be drawn tight, the holes in the two ends to be brought together,—the two hole end on top and the button inserted. One button will answer, but it is better to insert two.

With the Buckle Tie, one end of the hoop is fastened to one section of the Buckle, the other end is inserted in the other section, and simply shoved through it under the other end as long as there is any slack. A bit- on the buckle holds it securely to to its place. The hoors are painted to prevent rust, and cut in lengths of 10, 104 and 1 feet. Ten feet are most generally used, but 104 and 11 are sometimes required for large bales. The buckles are fastened to the hoops, the buttons will be put up in small boxes. The Weight is About 10 Pounds to the Bale of Cotton.

The advantages of iron over rope for baling cotton are now universally acknowledged. It holds the bale in a much smaller compass; is applied and fastened with as much facility, both in the country tened with as much facility, both in the country pressing and the re-compressing at the sea ports; lessens immensely the risk from fire; is stronger, and its strength is not impaired by time and exposure as is that of rope. This last advantage has seed strikingly manifested during the war. Thoubands of bales of Cotton have been loat by the rotting and breaking of Rope which could have been preserved if Iron hoops had been used. In addition to this, it can be furnished cheaper than Rope. The derangement of labor in the hemp growing states has reduced the supply of hemp to such an extent as to cause prices to rule unprecedently high: indeed a sufficiency for baling a moderate cotton crop, cannot be relied on at any price.

I have arranged for the importation of a large quantity of the best English Iron, and have made arrangements with Messrs. Chambers & Latting for the sale and delivery of my Ties.

The undersigned, Fire Warden and Fire Inspector of the New Orleans Insurance Companies, are of opinion that the Iron Tie affords greater protection against loss in case of fire than the old style of baling with rope.

J. YOUENES, Fire Warden,
J. HN ADAMS, Fire Inspector.

I concur in the above,

ALFRED BELANGER,

Ex-Chief Engineer, Fire Department. SHIP REFUGE, NEW ORLEANS, July 7, 1859.

H. Fassmann, Esq., Orleans Cotton Press: Sir: In January last I received from your Press 1089 bales of eotton, of which about 1000 were recompressed and bound with your new "Iron Tie." I can safely affirm that the cotton so bound was received in better order than it generally comes from the Presses, that it stowed better, and enabled the the Presses, that it stowed better, and enabled the ship to carry more than on any previous voyage.

The cotton when discharged from the ship in Liverpool, was in better order than the repe bound cotton, it is highly preferable for a ground tier, as dampness from the ballast has no effect upon it, for it is well known by practical men that dampeess will rot the rope bound. I can confidently recommend your "Iron Tie," as I took this lot for an experiment and carefully watched it both in loading and discharging.

I am Sir, Yours Respectfully, JOHN HOWARD, Master. CHAMBERS & LATTING. Cotton Factors, Agents for Fassmann's Iron Ties and Dealers in Bagging, Rope and Twine, No. 61 Carondelet St., NEW ORLEANS.
